

Audinate Partners With Yamaha

YAMAHA Commercial Audio Systems (YCAS) has announced a partnership with Audinate to create Dante compatible cards for its line of products, specifically the Audinate Dante-MY16-AUD card. Fully compatible with Yamaha's digital MY16 card slots in consoles, processors and digital power amplifiers. Designed by Audinate, the Dante technology provides digital media networking for the live sound, A/V sound reinforcement installations, broadcast and recording applications.

The patent pending Dante technology distributes digital audio with imperceptible latency, sample accurate playback synchronization and reliability. It delivers a self-configuring, plug-and-play digital audio network that uses standard Internet Protocols at 1 Gbps and/or 100 Mbps Ethernet.

Dante-enabled devices will self-configure and automatically discover the location and number of channels of other devices on the network, reducing complicated installation requirements.

Yamaha's new Audinate Dante-MY16-AUD card.

"Yamaha is one of the most respected companies in the professional audio business and we are delighted to have them as the distributor for the Dante-MY16-AUD card," stated Lee Ellison, CEO, Audinate, Inc. "With the new card in Yamaha mixing consoles, customers will be able to easily connect to other Dante enabled products and offer a broader networked solution." ■

Audinate Partners With Bosch

AUDINATE HAS ALSO announced its partnership with Bosch Communications Systems for a company-wide license agreement to implement Dante audio networking solutions into their products. The agreement allows all Bosch brands, including Electro-Voice, Dynacord, Telex, Midas, Klark Teknik and Bosch to incorporate Dante.

"Dante will become the foundation of our Common Audio Protocol (CAP) communications solution across the Bosch Communication Systems companies," stated Bill Scott, Vice President of Engineering and Technology, Bosch Communications Systems. "We selected Dante because of its ease-of-use, lower latency and scalability."

"Bosch is recognized as one of the of the world's leading manufacturers and suppliers of professional audio solutions in high-profile installations and events communication equipment. We are pleased that Bosch Communications Systems will be incorporating Dante into their solutions as their networking platform," stated David Myers, COO, Audinate. ■

ProSoundWeb

News & Information for the Audio Professional

Behind every sound is an audio professional
Behind every audio professional is ProSoundWeb

2,500,000 Monthly Views*
365,000 Monthly Visitors*
30,000 Monthly Forum Posts*

ProSoundWeb is the audio industry's largest online community covering all aspects of the professional sound industry – live sound, installed sound, recorded sound and more. Put your brand in front of the more than 146,000* unique monthly visitors – producers, engineers and musicians – who stay connected and informed through ProSoundWeb.

For more information on advertising with ProSoundWeb please contact:
Mark Shemet • mshemet@prosoundweb.com • 603-532-4608

*Publishers own data, April 2009